Foreword

We are pleased to present to you the 1981 Mennonite Yearbook, the organizational and statistical record of the Mennonite Church in North America. This volume reflects the life of the church as it is found in its congregational, district, conference, regional, continental, and worldwide dimensions.

As we move further into the 80s we pause to reflect upon the vitality of the black communities within our membership. Through the pen of Hubert L. Brown we explore the pivotal place which James and Rowena Lark held in the formative days (late 1920s to 1970s) of the black movement within the Mennonite Church. In addition, Moderator Glendon Blosser shares with us the reasons for the praise and joy he feels as he looks upon our life and witness as a people in the midst of our multifaceted and diverse society. In doing so he invites each one to become involved in all that God is doing in our midst.

The usual features of the Yearbook continue. New entries include (1) the addition of the Evangelical Mennonite Conference (EMC) and Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada (EMMC) congregations in the Regional Directory, thus expanding the inter-Mennonite flavor of this section; (2) Mid-West Mennonite Fellowship and the Mennonite Council in New York City and the Metropolitan Area expands the Conference Directory to a listing of 36 bodies. The Mid-West congregations were formerly included in the Unaffiliated section. The Mennonite Council of New York City is a district of congregations tied to the Atlantic Coast and Lancaster conferences, but who are working more intimately together in their urban setting; (3) Table X, "Comparative Mennonite Church Giving Statistics," has been expanded to include the record of the disbursement of funds given to the church; and Table XIX "Mennonite Church Giving to Churchwide Colleges and Seminaries" lists for the first time the financial support of our church schools. All other tables remain the same, but have been brought up-to-date.

Membership continues to build slowly in the Mennonite Church. This volume reflects a total membership of 109,278, a slight increase of 1,346 over 1980; total congregations increased from 1,222 to 1,247. (See Table II, "Membership Gains and Losses of Mennonite Church in North America.") In the overseas area a net gain of 342 has been reflected in the reports. In total, the Mennonite Church efforts include 142,497 members in ministry throughout the world. In the inter-Mennonite Context, the Mennonite Church sees itself as part of 320,000 members (see Table VI) who comprise the Mennonite and Brethren in Christ in North America and the 643,500 members (see Table VII) who comprise the Mennonite and Brethren in Christ bodies around the world.

Other statistical reports note that giving in 1978 moved up by 10 percent in 1979 from $361.24 to $403.49 per member. Sunday school enrollment increased slightly but Bible school continues to decrease slightly. A new table reports that the level of giving toward our churchwide colleges and seminaries stands at $4.74 per member.

The Mennonite Yearbook is a tool to facilitate the life of the Mennonite Church. The production of this volume is the result of concerted efforts by the staff of the Mennonite Yearbook who work with many pastors, conference secretaries, representatives of numerous boards and agencies to gather up-to-date information and organize it in a way that benefits the whole body. In spite of efforts to economize the cost/price squeeze continues to mount. Each year more effort is invested into the volume than what can be recovered through sales. This, coupled with declining sales, is forcing the publishers to consider such options as including less information and/or a less frequent publication. Currently, a biennial alternative to the annual release is under active consideration. An examination of the content to be retained in the publication is also being conducted. Should you have counsel for us on this matter, we will be glad to hear from you. Write or contact James E. Horsch, Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683 (412-887-8500). Our goal continues to be to provide a most useful tool to facilitate the common life, faith, and witness of the family, in the larger family of God called Mennonites. Your response will help the Yearbook remain true to this purpose.—James E. Horsch.

A Doxology of Praise . . . Glory in the Church

The Mennonite Church 1981

By Glendon L. Blosser
Moderator, Mennonite Church General Assembly

Now to him who is able to do immeasurably more than all we ask or imagine, according to his power that is at work within us [the church], to him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, forever and ever! Amen. Ephesians 3:20, 21, NIV.

The Apostle Paul penned these words as a burst of praise for the church in his day. Although he was writing from prison, Paul was expressing himself from his wealth of experience as a servant of the churches. Paul served in a variety of relationships and in many types of ministries. From his broad perspective he could easily say that God's power was at work within the church.

Although I do not consider my role as a churchman comparable to the Apostle Paul, my experiences and observations as a servant of the Mennonite Church is best expressed as a doxology of praise. The broader my exposure to the church, the more I see "his power that is at work within us." I have served as an officer on every level of church life from the local congregation to the denominational assembly. Every assignment has given me a new appreciation for the meaning of church. Committee and board meetings have become spiritual experiences for me. Building agendas and finding consensus for decision-making are times when Jesus Christ is at work in His church.

With the thanksgiving I have in my heart for the Mennonite Church and the scope of material which the Mennonite Yearbook presents, it seems fitting to highlight several aspects of denominational life and programming which illustrates "glory in the church" as praise to Jesus Christ, the Head.

Personnel Resources

The more I come into contact with different congregations and the many persons serving on churchwide committees and boards, I am overwhelmed with the richness of person resources—my sisters and brothers. Not only are these persons gifted and endowed with skills for kingdom work but the spirit of Christ is evident in their lives. I find deep concern for caring relationships. Progress is being made in integrating the gifts of minority persons, women, youth, and senior citizens. I have observed with appreciation and praise to God that in our Mennonite circles tasks can be accomplished where gifted persons complement rather than compete with each other. My life and ministry has been greatly enriched by the role models that my fellow servants exhibit as they follow Christ.

Multicultural church

God is blessing our congregations and denomination with a church growth factor that is mutlicultural. Percentage-wise the greatest membership growth is happening among our black and Hispanic churches. Also persons from other religious backgrounds are coming to personal faith in Jesus Christ and finding meaningful fellowship in our churches and institutions.

Although this has caused some confusion about our Mennonite identity, we have gained the richness of a spiritual family that lives with newness in experiences and understandings. Quite often these insights result in new appreciation for spiritual truths or practices that we have taken for granted or discontinued. I praise God for the way He is bringing glory into the Mennonite Church with new people from many cultural settings.

General Assembly

Mass meetings for Mennonites are important. With spiritual fellowship a basic tenet of our faith, it needs to happen on many levels. August 11-16, 1981, will be the next General Assembly on the campus of the Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio. The theme, "Called to One Hope," will focus the entire convention for us. Youth and children's activities will also be a part of the denominational gathering.

As a denomination we need our biennial assemblies to work at being a faithful church. Key issues are considered. In this 81 assembly "Leadership and Authority in the Church" will be presented for final approval after being studied and tested by the constituency this past biennium. "The Use of the Law' is another document that has been processed and will need delegate approval. A treatise on "Peace, Love, and Justice in Christian Witness" will be reviewed by the assembly and then further processed by the congregations during the next biennium. A contemporary issue in need of serious consideration is "Human Sexuality in the Christian Life." A process to work at understanding the implications of this issue and affirming biblical directives in relation to it will also be an agenda item for the assembly.

As God's people gathered to discern issues, it is also a time for celebration and worship. The practice of past assembly programs to have a Bible study of a New Testament book as its major input has been important. Assembly 81 will have daily Bible studies from the book of 1 Thessalonians led by Don Jacobs. In addition Stephen Shank will present from memory, in a dramatic way, the entire Book of Revelation. I find General Assembly time as an occasion to expect God to do more than "we ask or imagine (plan)."

District Conference

In 1971 the new church organization emphasized the congregation as the primary unit of church life. A new concept of regions was also adopted to better facilitate denominational representation and programming. District conferences were taken for granted and not given prominence in this new organizational plan. However, in the ten years that have followed, the district conferences have retooled and emerged with new strength. Also several new groupings of congregations have formed since 1971 into four new conference entities (Atlantic Coast, Gulf States, New York State Fellowship, Southeast Mennonite Convention) and now participate actively in the program of the General Assembly.

This phenomenon of more and stronger district conferences is a plus factor. Resourcing congregational nurture and mission programming can be facilitated in a closer relation to "grass roots." This development has called for some shift in the way our churchwide boards can best serve the needs and mission of the church. Responsible leadership is happening at the district level and we will need to continue to provide a meaningful way for the larger districts to share with and subsidize the programs of the smaller districts.

Churchwide Boards

The arrangement of the listing in the Yearbook with the congregations first, district conferences next, and the churchwide boards following is significant. The Mennonite Church does not function with a pyramid of power where denominational boards are on top. Rather, the churchwide boards (Mennonite Church General Board, Mennonite Board of Congregational Ministries, Mennonite Board of Education, Mennonite Board of Missions, Mennonite Mutual Aid Board, and Mennonite Publication Board) are servants of the denominational constituency.

My contact with these various boards and their executive staff members have given me another feel for "glory in the church." These staff members report regularly to each meeting of the General Board. Their openness for counsel and the willingness to test budgets, policies, and programs with the constituency accentuates the corporate nature of the church. Interboard relationships are such that there is a good spirit in seeing that our mission is one.

This biennium has been a trial period for a new kind of membership for the General Board. Twenty-one of the twenty-two district conferences have named a representative to serve on the General Board. In addition we have General Assembly appointees and representatives from the WMSC and the black and Hispanic caucuses. This has enlarged the size of the board but the better flow of two-way communication with the conferences has more than compensated for any limitations of working with the larger board. The good interchange by the board members and the spiritual concern for each other gives board meetings the feel of being the church.

Urban Missions

Since the 1977 General Assembly at Estes Park we have had a sensitive ear to the increased needs for urban missions. With more persons living in urban centers and inner-city needs becoming more intense this concern seems to have been a divine call to us.

To work at this call the General Board has given leadership to help the program boards and the district conferences direct more planning and resourcing to meet urban needs. One project that has developed quickly and is now in a healthy state of operation is the black and Hispanic Leadership Education Program (BHLEP). This program is under the supervision of the Mennonite Board of Education and is located on the Goshen College Campus. Currently the Hispanic Ministries program has 26 students and the James Lark program has eight students in the first year of operation. In addition to the BHLEP projects, the High-Aim program has been successful in helping minority youth at the secondary level for many years.

Inner-city needs are difficult to work with due to their economic and political implications. However, our approach in sharing the gospel is relational and service-oriented. Numerous Voluntary Service units have ministered in these urban settings. Although we haven't seen glowing results in our program of urban missions, I want to give praise to God for the growing compassion for the city.

Inter-Mennonite Projects

Another dimension of churchmanship that gives me praise for the church of Jesus Christ is the working relationships we have at many levels in inter-Mennonite projects. The Yearbook lists approximately 75 such projects.

The moderators and secretaries of the Mennonite Church, Mennonite Brethren Church, General Conference Mennonite Church, and Brethren in Christ Church meet annually for a day of sharing and mutual interchange. This group is sponsoring a North American Bible Conference, July 22-25, 1982. The study theme will be from the Book of Ephesians. The conference will also be a time to review the programs of inter-Mennonite agencies.

Another Mennonite fellowship experience in the planning stage is the 300-year celebration in 1983 of the first Mennonite settlement in the new world at Germantown, Pennsylvania. In 1983 both the biennial assembly of the Mennonite Church and the triennial assembly of the General Conference Mennonite Church will meet. Both were together as one group of Mennonites until 1847. Sites are being determined in the eastern Pennsylvania area for both assemblies. On at least one occasion both assemblies will meet together in worship and celebration of our common history and blessings from God.

Mennonite World Conference meets every six years with the Eleventh Assembly set for July 24-29, 1984, at Strasbourg, France. The Mennonite World Conference Council will meet July 21-25, 1981, at Nairobi, Kenya, to do preplanning for the 1984 assembly and to have international interchange and testimonies concerning issues of common concern.

Being a part of a denomination that has a global vision for missions also suggests the need for a global setting for worship and mutual sharing. To recognize the universal distribution of my Mennonite sisters and brothers gives me moments of praise.

The Larks: Mission Workers

by Hubert L. Brown

Mennonite mission work among the blacks of North America had its beginning in 1898. The black people of the Welsh Mountains of eastern Pennsylvania were the first ones to become involved in the Mennonite mission. But it was many years later that James and Rowena ushered in the dynamic era of mission involvement among the black people. Born in Savannah, Georgia, May 4, 1888, Brother Lark was the only child of Lela and James Lark. He lost his mother when he was five and his father a year later. From then he struggled alone, except for the help he received from relatives. As a boy Brother Lark attended a Baptist church and was baptized at the age of sixteen. Relatives and friends made it possible for him to attend a Quaker Institute for College Youth at Cheney, Pennsylvania, now called Cheney State College. He graduated in 1916 and taught for a while at the Florida Baptist Academy in Jacksonville, Florida. In 1918 he married Rowena. To their union six children, James, Juanita, Essie, Rowena, Emma, and Alexander, were born.

In 1927 the Lark family moved to a farm near Quakertown, Pennsylvania. Here they had their first contact with Mennonites. Members of the Rocky Ridge Mission Church invited the Lark children to Sunday school. Later Sister Lark started to attend. In a letter to Brother J. D. Graber, Mission Board secretary, Brother Ernest Moyer, a worker at Rocky Ridge, wrote: "Mrs. Rowena Lark (colored) came to Rocky Ridge Mission in the very beginning. She became a faithful member and after a number of years she has won her husband and three of their children for Christ. This has been a real encouragement to the mission workers." Brother Lark joined the Mennonite fellowship, after seeing the joy and excitement his wife displayed as she daily lived for Christ and because of the personal visits from members of the mission. He later said, "I didn't come in to reform, but I joined the church for what it was." In a Mission News article Mrs. Lark reported the following concerning the mission: "It was the literal fulfillment of Scripture that caused me to join Rocky Ridge Mission. As I saw these faithful Christians coming eight or more miles from their homes and gathering up in their cars, Italians, Poles, Dutch, American Negroes, and Germans, to take them to the house of the Lord, I was made to feel that here is a group of Christians who are really making their religion practical."

In addition to being active members of the Rocky Ridge Mission, the Larks were invited to surrounding communities to help conduct summer Bible school programs. Wherever they went, reports of their ministry were positive. In the summer of 1944 they were called to lead the summer Bible school program in Chicago. That ministry resulted in the initiation of a Sunday school. Brother and Sister Lark were then asked to head this new ministry among the "colored people" in Chicago.

On February 18, 1945, James and Rowena Lark entered active full-time service as superintendents of the Mennonite mission work among the Negroes of the Chicago area. The Larks began a number of activities for the children of the area: a boys' club was started, a girls' chorus was organized, a camp program was instituted, and summer Bible school program was held. The first members of this new work at Bethel, Nicholas Tang, Sr., his daughter Jonetta Tang, and Thelma Glenn, joined on October 7, 1945. Activities and blessings continued as a Mothers' Sewing Circle was organized and a "Go Get 'em" Missionary Band was formed. In October 1946 Brother Lark was ordained to the ministry. Mennonite volunteers from every corner of the church participated in the work. Through Brother Lark's vision and persistence the work moved forward so that by 1953 ground was broken for a new building.

Brother Lark's vision and concern for reaching the "colored people" with the gospel of Christ led to involvements far beyond their immediate neighborhood. On December 1, 1945, he and Rowena organized a Sunday school in the home of Mrs. Ethel Isaac. This led to the beginning of the Dearborn St. Mennonite Church. In the summer of 1949 Brother Lark started a camp near Hopkins Park, later called Camp Rehoboth. In November he started the St. Anne Church in Rehoboth. Wherever the Larks went they were a real inspiration. They traveled widely and shared the good news to as many as they could in a variety of ways. Theirs was a work of friendship evangelism. They engaged in summer Bible school ministries in Saginaw, St. Louis, and Los Angeles.

In the mid-sixties they moved to Frèsno, California, where they started a church which did not have Mennonite affiliation. They also started a number of programs aimed at strengthening the black community both educationally and economically. In March of 1970 Rowena died. In the years following her passing, Brother Lark continued to step out and plant churches in urban areas. And at post-retirement age he went to Wichita, Kansas, and started an ambitious project aimed at presenting a wholistic ministry to that community. His plan included a day care center, a nursery, a recreational program, afternoon Bible studies, a clinic, and a community garden. He took a dying church and revitalized it. He changed its name from Tenth Street to Zion, an appropriate name to describe the last place of ministry of Brother Lark. His health began to fail during the mid-seventies. While he was interested in the work of bringing salvation to the black community, he simply no longer had the strength. And after a lengthy illness he died on January 10, 1978.

It will take the Mennonite Church some time to fully understand the significance of the Lark contribution. Lark was a man who, in the words of Leroy Bechler, was "fifty years ahead of his time in vision and concern for the growth of the Mennonite Church in urban areas." During his long ministry he always challenged his fellow Mennonites by asking, "What is your plan; what is your program?" The life and legacy of James and Rowena Lark stand as an example of what God can do if people are open to the Spirit's leading. Alex Lark, their youngest son, said of his parents, "Here was a case of functional discipleship."

Regional Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite Church congregations according to the region in which they are located. Within each region, congregations are listed alphabetically by state/ province and city. This directory includes all the Mennonite Church congregations which are listed in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Most of these congregations are members of district conferences; however, some ("Unaffiliated Mennonite Congregations") are not related to any district or conference. Most participate in the regional activities and send delegates to the General Assembly; however, some consider themselves part of the larger Mennonite church body, but choose not to participate in the programs of the region or the General Assembly. These factors are noted at the beginning of each regional listing.

In addition, the directory includes all congregations affiliated with the Brethren in Christ, General Conference Mennonite, Mennonite Brethren, Evangelical Mennonite Brethren, Evangelical Mennonite Church, Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada and the Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada churches. These are integrated with the Mennonite Congregations but set in italic type for ease of identification. Information listed about these congregations includes name, number, affiliation (BIC—Brethren in Christ; EMB—Evangelical Mennonite Brethren Conference; EMC—Evangelical Mennonite Church; EMCC—Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada; EMMC—Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada; GC—General Conference Mennonite; and MB—Mennonite Brethren), and location.

The geographical area, regional officers, committees, a summary of the Mennonite Church conference affiliation of congregations, membership, and a listing of delegates to Mennonite General Assembly are noted with each region. Information regarding district conference organizations, bishops/overseers, and congregations is found in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" section of this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide information regarding the meetinghouse of the congregation. It is designed to assist readers in their efforts to find or contact the congregation at its meetinghouse. Note that the location of the meetinghouse is, in most cases, not a mailing address. All mail should be directed to the office or the contact person listed under the congregation in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregation." Persons desiring to get in touch with the pastor, or contact person of a congregation, should follow the information provided in the "Conference and District Directory of Congregations." Effort was made to secure complete and accurate information about each congregation listed. If there are errors and/or if there is data missing, please provide full information to the Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, Mennonite Publishing House, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683. Conference and District Directory of Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite Church conferences alphabetically by name of conference or district. Within each conference, congregations are listed alphabetically by name of congregation. Note one exception: The Conservative Mennonite Conference lists congregations alphabetically by country and state. Within each state, congregations are listed alphabetically by name. A few of the conferences and districts identify with the Mennonite Church at large, but do not participate with regional planning groups nor send delegates to the General Assembly. Note that the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church and the Beachy Amish are listed in separate directories later in this volume.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information needed to contact one person (Pastor or contact person) for a given congregation by mail or phone without needing to consult other sections of the Yearbook. This person is noted with a number 1 after the ministerial status code. Ordained persons who carry active responsibility in the congregations are also listed with each congregation. These carry a number 2. Ordained persons who carry district, conference, or churchwide responsibilities in addition to congregational duties are designated by the number 5.

Ordained persons who are retired (number 3); those who are without congregational responsibility (number 4); chaplains (6); those serving as active missionaries overseas (number 7); and those serving as staff members of a Mennonite Church-sponsored-or-related board, agency, or program (number 9) are listed in the "Ministerial Directory" only. Note one exception: In the listing of "Unaffiliated Mennonite Congregations," all ordained persons are included with each congregation regardless of their ministerial function.

The mailing address and telephone number of the church office is listed for those congregations whose office address or telephone number is different from that of the pastor or contact person. The address and telephone number of the pastor or contact person is the home address and number, not that of the meetinghouse or office. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Regional Directory of Congregations" section of this volume. An example of a complete congregational listing is as follows:

Church Communities

Church communities is a broad designation for the house churches and intentional communities within the Anabaptist-Mennonite movement. Communities listed relate in a variety of ways to the Mennonite Church, as well as other churches and movements. Most communities follow a multiple-shared pattern of leadership. However, in the listing below, the name of only one person is given in order to provide a point of contact with the community. An asterisk (*) indicates that the church information about the community is not current.

Directory of Overseas Mennonite Churches

(Related to the Mennonite Church)

This directory lists those overseas Mennonite churches which emerged out of the mission work conducted by the Mennonite Board of Missions, as well as district and conference mission boards. These overseas conferences, though independent, maintain continuing fraternal ties to the Mennonite Church in North America.

Conferences are listed alphabetically by name. Within each conference the congregations or districts are listed alphabetically by name of congregation. (A few are listed alphabetically by states or areas, then by name.) Each congregational listing includes the name of the pastor or leader. In most cases only one name is included. Others active in the leadership of the congregation are included in the "Ministerial Directory." A complete congregational listing would include the following: (See beginning of "Conference and District Directory of Congregations" for explanation of status of pastor/leader. Note that the geographical location of the meetinghouse is not a mailing address. Send all correspondence in the name of the pastor or leader whose address is found in the "Ministerial Directory" of this volume.)

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date of organization: 1920

Purpose and function: MCC is the cooperative relief and service agency of 17 North American Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches and conferences. Central for Mennonites is Christ's call for Christians to reflect the compassion of Jesus, teach the good news to the poor, proclaim liberty for the captives and recovery of sight for the blind, and set at liberty those who are oppressed. Community development, peacemaking, and material aid are carried on "in the name of Christ" in response to Christ's command to teach all nations the way of discipleship, love, and peace.

Notes

1. All data on this table are for youth and students from North American Mennonite Church congregations; students from other Mennonite groups (including foreign conferences) and non-Mennonite students are not included in these numbers. International students had been included in the Mennonite college and seminary numbers in previous years. The "Estimated College-Age Population" column includes only youth from major Mennonite Church groups (see list of conferences on Table XV).
2. Numbers for Mennonite colleges and seminaries are for full-time students only; numbers for other colleges and universities may include some part-time students.
3. Beginning in 1980, enrollment numbers include sponsored students; a sponsored student is one whose program at another school is planned by the home school. This year Goshen College has nine sponsored students.

In addition to the Mennonite Church students of the Table XVI, the data in this table include all other students. The first column for each school lists full-time students and in the second column part-time students are added.

Some of the schools, especially the seminaries, have a significant ministry to students not taking course work for credit. These audit and extension students are not included in the numbers reported here.
